Fast Forward Signs SYMCO to Represent State-of-the-Art DVR Products to Northeastern U.S.

Agreement Reflects FFV's Rapid Growth and Expanding Scope

IRVINE, Calif. — June 10, 2009 — Fast Forward Video (FFV) today announced that it has signed an agreement with SYMCO, a professional video manufacturer's representative serving the U.S. Northeast and mid-Atlantic regions including the New York metro area. SYMCO will represent FFV's full line of professional, broadcast-quality digital video recorders (DVRs) to broadcast system dealers and resellers throughout the region.

"Fast Forward Video is at the forefront of broadcast DVR technology, and their solutions fit perfectly into our overall product offering," said Frank Culotta, president, SYMCO. "Since a good percentage of our market is now in various stages of migrating to HD operations, the fact that FFV offers truly leading-edge products such as the Omega HD fills a huge requirement among our customer base."

"SYMCO offers the ideal combination of technical expertise and market/industry savvy to effectively represent our products to resellers in this critically important market," said Harry Glass, vice president of sales for Fast Forward Video. "With the rapid growth of our company, it's becoming critical that we align ourselves with technical sales companies that are geographically positioned in order to penetrate important markets — and SYMCO is an important part of this strategy."
